During the lunch break, Bruce Barbour projected the new pages added to the alumni website by Irene Sabin and urged everyone to send in reports for their volunteer activities.

Meeting Opened: 12:55pm

This was an election year for the RESAA Executive Board Officers. Steve Foster (Duke'06), the Nominating Chair, presented the current officers for re-election: President: Bill Curzie; co- Vice Presidents: Jim May and Marlene Robinson; Secretary: Irene Sabin; Treasurer: Dionne Polk. Steve then opened the floor for nominations and, when none were forthcoming, he called for a voice vote on the slate, which passed.

Irene Sabin (Duke'07) stated that there were three sign-up sheets in the back of the room for interest in:

- being on the next nominating team
- serving on the Executive Board
- acting as a class contact person. She especially asked for class contact people to sign up because this will be the basis for establishing regional (North, Central, South) RESAA groups according to class location sites. One objective is to have representatives from each group eventually form the RESAA Executive Board.

Bill Curzie (EcoComplex'07) opened a discussion on environmental topics of interest and asked Thuy Ahn Le (Duke'06) to talk about the excellent anti-idling initiatives taken by her group, BoroGreen, in her town. Other topics included: the use of noisy and polluting leaf blowers, fundraising, and asking organizations to give scholarships to the RES Program if recipients were willing to complete their internship requirements at the organization.

Meeting closed: 1:25pm

The NJDEP educational Program resumed with afternoon speakers.

Respectfully submitted,
Irene Sabin
